Introduction

The Indian Association of Epidemiologists (IAE) has been registered under Registration Act (Regd. No. S/25118 of 1993). It works for the promotion and strengthening of Epidemiological Services in India with more than 360 life members from all over the country.

This association promotes the epidemiological investigations and research in policy related to public health programmes. The association facilitates technical sessions like symposium, talks & lectures on topics of Public Health Importance by IAE members and encourages those engaged in research and teaching epidemiology throughout the country.
